

PrEP Counselor Reports To: Director of Programs

Effective Start Date: January 1st, 2022

Job Title: PrEP Counselor

Position Summary: Through in person and web outreach, the PrEP Counselor engages individuals living and/or working within Jersey City who are at high risk for acquiring HIV and other sexually transmitted infections (STI) in order to first assess their HIV or HIV-risk status and then assist them in accessing the necessary health and social services appropriate to their status. For those identified as HIV-negative or who are of unknown HIV status, such services would include HIV prevention education and materials, linkage to HIV/STI testing and linkage to PrEP counseling services to support their efforts to remain HIV-negative. For those newly learning they have an HIV positive status, they will be linked to HIV medical care and social support services to help them attain and sustain both physical and emotional health. The PrEP Counselor is primarily responsible for working with individuals who belong to specifically assigned target group(s), but may be asked to assist with outreach or counseling to secondarily assigned groups as needs and opportunities arise. This staff member is also responsible for delivering education on PrEP to both community groups and client support groups and with tracking and managing client data and with submitting reports to grant funders.

Key Responsibilities

- Accurately collect, record and update all client data necessary for intake and referral to care process;
- Assess outreach-screened clients' suitability for PrEP initiation via provision of single EB1 "Personalized Cognitive Counseling" (PCC) session
- Link appropriate clients to PrEP or other staff for HIV medical provider for medical evaluation
- Develop initial client PrEP adherence care plan, updating quarterly
- Deliver 20-40 min individual PrEP Adherence counseling sessions to clients medically approved for PrEP at either HPC or at the medical provider site
- Facilitate weekly 90-minute PrEP Adherence counseling, as directed per care plan
- Maintain monthly communication with PrEP medical provider or HIV medical case manager to assess, discuss and address on-going adherence and/or other social service needs
- Maintain charting about client progress toward achieving care plan goals
- Assist with program quality management activities, including data collection, chart maintenance and timely provision of data to Clinical Director for monthly reporting
- Network with community stakeholders, leaders and other service providers in order to create more cohesive services for persons on PrEP and persons living with HIV/AIDS;

- Attend all HPC meetings and development opportunities
- Other duties as needed

Skills:

- Knowledge of HIV disease
- Knowledge of bio-psycho-social risk factors for HIV infection impacting Men who Have Sex with Men (MSM) and Transgender Women
- Ability to explain the goal of PrEP and importance of adherence.
- Ability to explain the research that has demonstrated the effectiveness of PrEP and all the client behavioral factors associated with both the highest rates and reduced rates of PrEP effectiveness.
- Ability to communicate with others empathetically and non-judgmentally.
- Ability to effectively communicate both orally and in writing with persons of multiple, diverse backgrounds.
- Ability to assess and address clients' knowledge, attitudes, beliefs, and intentions, and readiness to initiate PrEP.
- Exceptional attention to detail and organizational skills.
- Proficient in the use of technology (e.g., computer programs such as MS Word, Excel, PPT [or their equivalents], smartphones/Apps, internet searches, social media, etc.).

Qualifications:

Earned or entering final semester for Bachelor's degree in Social Work, Counseling, Psychology, or a related field, minimum of six-months of internship or professional experience specifically targeted to working with Gay/Bisexual Male and/or Transgender Female communities and minimum of one years' experience as an HIV tester/counselor.
